

Moon Phases 2020

If you would like to know about the lunar phases for 2020, here they are!

These tables are easy to use. The first column lists the phase of the Moon; the second column gives the date on which on which this phase becomes exact; the third column gives the time by GMT when this phase becomes exact; and the fourth column gives the sign in which the phase occurred, followed by the element. Eclipses are shown in bold. The fact that these tables are given in GMT means that you'll have to convert the time of an event in any non-GMT time zone back to GMT before using the tables.
